

TY MORSE

"ST. AGNES EVE"

With a flicker of interest in a fellow student's musical english project, Ty Morse purchased his first guitar in order to participate. His love for music outlasted many of his peers and sent him on a surprising path. A few years after that first guitar, with new co-conspirators Justin Perkinson and Jon Greenlee, Ty co-composed the award-winning original musical Frankenstein: The Rock Opera which enjoyed a sold-out run of performances at its October 2003 world premiere in Charlotte, NC.

Thousands of hours and hundreds of songs later, Ty enlisted the help of Producer Jon Greenlee to sort through his growing base of pop songs with an eye on a debut solo record. Several hundred hours further in the future, the release of that record imminently looms. St. Agnes Eve arrives on Royalty, Etc. Records, May 30th. It's what you've been waiting for in the times when you ardently wish there was another Chris Bell record, another Nick Drake record, another Astral Weeks—a time that must be gone, because even the artists that were there can no longer capture the spirit they forged long ago.

If it's what you've been waiting for, you can come along one more time. Keep updated with news, new music, and other media @ www.royaltyetc.com/tymorse
